CKD – From Perry Duncan

The students at JJSS have been busy since starting 2nd semester with finishing up their Science Fair projects and planning a community basketball tournament for the end of February. The students have also been staying late and getting in required practices for the UpRiver Basketball Tournament.

They also look forward each week to doing some cross-country skiing on Wednesdays with Mr. Ben when conditions will allow. On the weekend of January 25th and 26th JJSS was host to Flagger job training and testing for village driver's licenses for community adults. 9 adults earned Flagger certificates and 4 earned their drivers permit. The addition of Bernice Sakar as cook has been great she knows her way around the kitchen and has been cooking some wonderful breakfasts and lunches. The children of Crooked Creek are growing and learning everyday.

CVSS-from Claudia Goodwin

During the month of January at CVSS, Teresa Hunter arranged to have Earl Polk come in and talk with the students and the community about Intervention and Prevention. Mr. Polk did an excellent job he was here January 27th and the 28th. There was also a potluck Wednesday at the school. He talked with the students and community about Family Early Intervention and Family Roles.

Marie Sakar did an activity Inspiring Students through Career Aspirations with the Kuskokwim Corporation's Training and Program Coordinator Megan Leary. The students told her about jobs they want to pursue in the future. They were told about future earning, higher education, job training and scholarships.

JESS-from Kiley Hayden

We have recently been doing a pennies for patients fundraiser and raised over 1000 dollars. We will be doing an upriver science fair in a little bit along with a basketball tournament with it.
